

ABSTRACT

5

The present invention concerns a cryptographic system, combining the so-called discrete logarithm and factorization principles, comprising an encryption and decryption system 10 and a key escrow system, and the associated equipment and devices.

It is particularly intended to be used in electronic systems of the type comprising chip 15 cards, PCMCIA cards, badges, contactless cards or any other portable equipment.